GLOW PLUGS

VSP provides

FASTER HEATING AND MORE RELIABLE STARTING EVEN IN LOW TEMPERATURES

The classification & characteristics of glow plugs

Regarding the construction of glow plug, there are two types: coil type and sheath type. The coil type where the heating coil is exposed, and this type is the main by the 1970s. The sheath type where the coil is protected by the heat resistance pipe. Now this type is the most popular taken over all other types of glow plugs. Moreover, the sheath type divided into four categories for the heating time as follows.

Standard Type

In 20~25 sec to 800°C

The resistance of the heating coil does not vary from temperature, and the glow plug draws the constant current.

Quick Type

In 15~20 sec to 800°C

The coil resistance increases as the temperature goes up, and the current is almost double of the nominal current when the glow is engaged, and it is possible to heat up quickly.

Q.G.S Type

Approx. 10 sec to 800°C

The electronics controller and relays control the engaged time and current draw for the quick starting, and also stable running of engine and reduction of smoke at crank.

S.Q Type

Max. 10 sec to 800°C

While a heating coil and a self-regulating coil be mixed in agreement, it will result in an excellent response to the system simple and quick start.
